

Where square or rectangular tables are arranged parallel to each other and perpendicular to the wall, there shall be at least 55 inches between tables. There is no minimum distance between the tables and the wall. The tables may be against the wall.