

Proclamation

Jane Castor, Mayor

WHEREAS, lupus is a non-contagious autoimmune disease that can cause severe damage to any part of the body including the skin, joints, and/or organs, and its affects can range from mild to life-threatening; and

WHEREAS, a global health problem, more than five million people worldwide suffer the devastating effects of this disease with approximately 1.5 million living in the United States, and the disease affects women, men and children of all nationalities, races, genders, and ages, with development of the disease between the ages of 15 and 44, and statistics show that 90 percent of people living with lupus are women; and

WHEREAS, medical research into lupus and the discovery of safer, more effective treatments for lupus patients are under-funded in comparison with diseases of comparable magnitude and severity, and many physicians worldwide are unaware of the symptoms and health effects of lupus, causing many people to suffer for years before they obtain a correct diagnosis and appropriate medical treatment; and

WHEREAS, there is a vital, unmet need worldwide to educate and support individuals and families affected by lupus and to increase awareness in communities of its debilitating impacts, and to bring attention to the disease and to the fact that early diagnosis and following a treatment plan may improve prognosis and help those with lupus live a normal life span; and

WHEREAS, non-profit organizations such as the World Lupus Federation, the Lupus Foundation of America including its Florida Chapter, and The Labalaba Foundation, are committed to bringing education and awareness to communities worldwide through campaigns, patient advocacy initiatives, resource provisions, fundraising programs for needed research, and caring support of the lupus community; and

WHEREAS, each year, the month of May is named Lupus Awareness Month, with May 10th designated as World Lupus Day to call attention to the impact lupus has on people around the world, to focus on the need for improved patient healthcare services, support increased research to the causes of and ultimately a cure for the disease, and lupus organizations around the globe advocate and promote worldwide recognition of lupus as a significant public health issue, and purple is the signature color of lupus awareness.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jane Castor, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of the city of Tampa, Florida, do hereby proclaim the month of May 2025 as in the city of Tampa, Florida, and urge all citizens to take part in and support organizations and programs designed to bring awareness to this disease and the toll it takes on those it affects, especially on Saturday, May 10, 2025, in recognition of World Lupus Day, and wear purple in advocacy of lupus awareness.

Dated in Tampa, Florida, this 30th day of April 2025.

Jane Castor
Mayor
