

Proclamation

Jane Castor, Mayor

WHEREAS, lupus is a non-contagious autoimmune disease that can cause severe damage to any part of the body including the skin, joints, and/or organs, and its affects can range from mild to life-threatening; and

WHEREAS, a global health problem, more than five million people worldwide suffer the devastating effects of this disease with approximately 1.5 million living in the United States of America, and the disease affects women, men and children of all nationalities, races, genders, and ages; and

WHEREAS, medical research into lupus and the discovery of safer, more effective treatments for lupus patients are under-funded in comparison with diseases of comparable magnitude and severity, and many physicians worldwide are unaware of the symptoms and health effects of lupus, causing many to suffer for many years before they obtain a correct diagnosis and appropriate medical treatment; and

WHEREAS, there is a vital, unmet need worldwide to educate and support individuals and families affected by lupus and to increase awareness in communities of its debilitating impacts; and

WHEREAS, non-profit organizations such as the World Lupus Foundation, the Lupus Foundation of America including its Florida Chapter, and the Labalaba Foundation are committed to bringing education and awareness to communities worldwide, giving caring support to those who suffer from its brutal effects and their family members and caregivers, and raising needed funds to reduce the diagnosis time, ensuring people with lupus have access to safe and effective treatments; and

WHEREAS, each year, World Lupus Day is held on May 10th to call attention to the impact lupus has on people around the world, to focus on the need for improved patient healthcare services, support increased research to the causes of and ultimately a cure for the disease, and lupus organizations around the globe call for and promote worldwide recognition of lupus as a significant public health issue.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jane Castor, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of the city of Tampa, Florida, do hereby proclaim Sunday, May 10, 2020 as in the city of Tampa, Florida, and urge all citizens to take part in and support organizations and programs designed to bring awareness to this disease and the toll it takes on those it affects.

Dated in Tampa, Florida, this 8th day of May, 2020.

Jane Castor

Mayor
